REBECCA I. HARP,
Plaintiff-Appellant,

Appeal from the United States District
Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin.

No. 20-C-1743

v.

FRANK BISIGNANO,
Commissioner of Social Security,
Defendant-Appellee.

Lynn Adelman,
Judge.

ORDER

The Social Security Administration reopened Rebecca Harp's application for disability insurance benefits based on evidence that she had concealed income, and, relying on that evidence, it revoked her benefits. In Harp v. Kijakazi, No. 22-1441, 2022

* This successive appeal has been submitted to the original panel under Operating Procedure 6(b). We have unanimously agreed to decide the case without argument because the briefs and record adequately present the facts and legal arguments, and argument would not significantly aid the court. FED. R. APP. P. 34(a)(2)(C).

WL 16849059 (7th Cir. Nov. 10, 2022), we found that substantial evidence supported the agency's findings and affirmed. Id. at *1. Harp later moved the district court to set aside the judgment under Rule 60(d)(3) for fraud on the court, a motion the district court denied. Harp appeals, but, as the district court rightly notes, Rule 60 relief is limited to extraordinary situations, and Harp has not met that high bar. See Harp v. O'Malley, No. 20-C-1743, 2024 WL 5166008 (E.D. Wis. Dec. 5, 2024). We have nothing to add to the district court's thoughtful decision and adopt its reasoning. The district court did not abuse its discretion in denying Harp's motion.
